TIMELY CORRESPONDENCE

DOYLESTOWN.

DOYLESTOWN SCHOOLS CELEBRATE LAFAYETTE DAY—TEACHERS TO HOLD THEIR ANNUAL INSTITUTE IN DOYLESTOWN NEXT WEEK—ACTIVITY IN POLITICAL CIRCLES.

Lafayette Day was observed with appropriate exercises by the Doylestown public schools on Wednesday. The public was invited to be present and a collection was taken up for the Lafayette monument, which will be unveiled at the Paris Exposition on United States Day. It is not generally known that it was in this county that Lafayette, then a mere youth, first offered his sword to General Washington in defense of the American colonies. This important historic event took place in an old stone house still standing near the Nesheaminy bridge at Hartsville. The schools of the county can therefore well afford to be represented by contributions to the memorial fund.

A matter in which many down county residents will be interested is the coming County Teachers' Institute, which will convene in Doylestown on Monday, Oct. 31, and adjourn on Friday evening, Nov. 4. So much advance has been made in educational matters generally in this county through associations of Directors, teachers and patrons of the schools, that the interest in the great annual gathering at Doylestown has kept pace with the progress of the times. It is difficult to provide seats for those in attendance as both day and evening sessions, and there will be no decline in the interest displayed by the public this year. County Superintendent Slocum has prepared his program for the week. He has been fortunate in securing several very popular lecturers for the evening programmes. For instance, there will be Col. Henry Waterson, who will attract an immense audience. Col. Waterson will lecture upon Abraham Lincoln, on Thursday evening. Mrs. Elizabeth B. Custer, widow of the late General Custer, will speak of frontier life on Wednesday evening, recounting her experiences of garrison life in the far West. Leland T. Powers, the popular impersonator, will appear Monday evening, and Dr. A. E. Winship will lecture on the subject of "Hypnotism in Business and Politics" on Tuesday evening. Friday evening will be devoted to music and literature, when Lulla Conwell will read and Helen Boies Lundell will sing. Brock's orchestra will be present every evening. The day instructors will be Dr. Jacques W. Redway, Mount Vernon, N. Y.; Dr. A. Thomas Smith, West Chester Normal School, Pa.; Prof. E. S. Kemp, East Stroudsburg Normal School, Pa.; Prof. Jesse H. Holmes, George School, Pa.; Prof. George L. Maris, George School, Pa.; Prof. L. W. Miller, School of Industrial Art, Philadelphia, Pa.

The admission from prominent Republicans all over the county, from President McKinley down, is having its effect upon the local campaign. Where local issues alone were discussed at the county seat some weeks ago one now hears much of the attitude of the two great parties upon national issues. Distrust of the Democratic party becomes more apparent every day as the campaign progresses. Especially do the Republicans recognize the necessity of electing their Congressional candidate, and this fact has awakened with renewed interest the determination of the party to make the victory complete by also electing the whole county ticket. The Democrats have concentrated all their fire upon Hon. Hampton W. Rice in the past few days. Rice has been maligned in the most unfair manner by the party organs. For instance, he is charged with being dishonest for having voted for what is known as the "Fire Alarm Bill." This was a measure so presented that the members of the House believed that it was an honest and desirable law, intended to protect the lives of operatives in mills and factories in the event of fire. Mr. Rice, with almost every other member of the House, voted for the bill. Immediately after, however, it was discovered the bill was intended to further a private scheme, whereupon Mr. Rice, with others, immediately presented a petition to the Governor, asking him to veto the bill. The maligners of Rice have never referred to the petition, notwithstanding the fact that they know fully that his vote was a mistake any man might have made, and one which he made all haste to correct. This is only one of the many false charges being made to injure Rice's enviable reputation. Rice stands before the people in marked contrast to Jacob Hagerty, his opponent. Hagerty was of the Bryan-Coxey-Alleged combination in the last Presidential campaign. His political views upon the currency question two years ago, his advocacy of all the dangerous heresies of the Chicago platform, are going to tell upon him, and it is safe to assume that the people will look upon him as a dangerous man to be entrusted with law-making. And so, in spite of other circumstances, the fight is being conducted along national lines. Every effort is being made by the Democrats to side-track this movement, but it cannot be averted. There may be here and there disgruntled Republicans in the county, but even they will assist in harriding the doors of Congress and the State Legislature against Democrats of the Hagerty pattern.

The Prohibitionists have neglected a matter which will prevent the names of the local candidates from appearing on the ballots this year. The Prohibitionists neglected to file their nomination certificates or nomination papers with the County Commissioners until after the time specified by law had expired. In consequence of this neglect they will be obliged to use pasters or write the names of candidates in the blank column of the ticket. The nomination papers of Howard Leopold, the Prohibition candidate for Congress in this district, which were turned down some time ago, have been sustained by a recent decision of Judge McPherson, handed down at Harrisburg, therefore his name will appear on the ticket.

At the M. E. Church Rev. O. J. Randall will preach next Sunday morning. Commencing November 6, the pastor will deliver a series of Sunday evening lectures, using lantern views as illustrations. All are invited to come and hear, and to see the pictures, which will be an additional attraction to Mr. Hawke's most excellent sermons.

At Friday's meeting next week the pastor will wear the University cap and gown, and will illustrate his remarks by blackboard sketches of the football field. Mr. Hawke was a college mate of Osgood, and these talks by one so familiar with the personality of the young hero ought to be heard by all, and all will be welcome at these meetings.

HULMEVILLE.

LAFAYETTE DAY VERY FITTINGLY OBSERVED AT THE CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL—HULMEVILLE WELL REPRESENTED AT BURLINGTON'S PARADE LAST WEEK—EPWORTH LEAGUE NOTES.

Mr. William Case, of Morrisville, was in town on business last week.

Lydia Wilson and friend, of New York, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Webster.

The schools were closed on Wednesday to give the pupils an opportunity to visit the city.

The Burlington Epworth League's parade was very largely attended by the Hulmeville people. Mrs. Thomas Goble, Mrs. Harry Johnson, Mrs. Bert Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. E. Prull, Mr. Ewald Rees, Misses Jennie Reed, Anna Oliver, Alice Oliver and Edith Douglas were among the number.

The Epworth League topics and names of the leaders for November are as follows: Nov. 5—"The Childhood of Jesus," Marian Laro. Nov. 13—"Waiting Harvest," Mrs. Samuel Johnson. Nov. 20—"Praise and Thanksgiving," Mrs. Charles Haefner. Nov. 27—"Total Abstinence and Prohibition," Rev. Samuel Johnson.

Lafayette Day was observed at the Central High School by devoting a period in naming and discussing events associated with the distinguished Frenchman. Topic after topic was named by the different pupils, each endeavoring to be the last one in naming an interesting event on the list. This was continued for some time when the following pupils excelled in their respective classes: Henry Briggs, Jennie LaRue, Olive Harrison, William Hawk, Jacob Hibbs, Samuel Harrison, and Odell LaFleur.

The St. Agnes' Guild of Grace Church has presented its constitution and by-laws, printed on a neat card. The object of the guild is primarily to assist the poor of the church. Second—By acts and words of kindness. Third—By providing, as far as possible, clothing and the necessities of life. Fourth—By giving work to needy women whenever practicable.

Any woman may become a member of the guild by paying the initiation fee of twenty-five cents and signing the roll and paying 20 cents per month dues.

The regular monthly meeting is held on the first Wednesday of each month at 2.30 o'clock p. m. at the home of one of the members, to which the guild is invited. After the business is transacted the meeting takes on a social character.

On last Sunday evening the Rev. William Pittenger delivered an excellent address to an attentive audience. His subject was "Christian Service."

Mr. James Sisson has been quite ill for two weeks with malaria, and is not yet much improved. This is something unusual for him, for he has been enjoying general good health. He is one of the favored few that hardly know what sickness was.

Candidate Fish is still on the hunt for votes. He did not give up the work when nominated, but is now hunting votes in opposition parties.

C. C. Watson returned from the mountains on Friday with a large bunch of ruffed grouse and woodcock. Hunting is rather poor and on account of the leaves remaining on the trees.

Those who went to the Peace Jubilee on Tuesday say that they could see nothing on account of the crowds, and those who did not go then met with disappointment on account of the rain on Wednesday.

We have the largest chestnut crop that has ever been known in this vicinity. People from all the surrounding country visit our woods and return laden with nuts. No shellbark or walnuts are to be found, and consequently very few squirrels are to be seen.

On next Tuesday the telegraph office will be moved into the ticket office at the station. A large window has been cut through the partition into the ladies' waiting room for the receiving of messages.

The historical hero-worshiper will have an excellent opportunity to display her talents today. As a matter of precaution, it is said that Hobson will wear a baseball catcher's mask during the Jubilee.

At the home-made bread and cake sale, at the residence of Mrs. H. A. Bailey, held Saturday, conducted by Mrs. Frank F. Bell and Mrs. Bailey, about $30 were realized. The proceeds are for the benefit of the First Baptist Church.

During a high wind on Sunday morning a branch from a tree on Franklin street fell across a fire alarm wire and caused the fire bell to strike one tap. An electric light pole nearby also had the arms stripped off it and was pulled over against a tree.

The Burlington Gazette says "when a Bristol hoodlum gets a little Jersey lightning in him he does things that under other circumstances he wouldn't think of doing—tearing down the American flag for instance. That is what some of those Bristol ducks did on Union street last [Thursday] evening."

John W. Wright and Miss Sarah R. Smith were married Friday evening at the home of the groom's parents on Pond street, by Rev. E. A. Book, pastor of the First Baptist Church. A number of relatives and friends were present, and ornamental and useful presents were received. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served.

Grundy & Co. will shut down Friday, and the employes will put in a full day Saturday to make up for half of the day lost and the other half will be donated them. Thomas L. Leedom & Co. are closed to-day.

Bristol firemen are preparing to organize a Firemen's Relief Association. These associations are formed in many of the towns of the State for the relief of firemen disabled at a fire and for the relief of families of firemen killed while in the performance of their duty. The Bristol firemen will meet early in November to further consider the details of the organization.

The Methodist Episcopal Church was crowded last Sunday evening at the Harvest Home services, which were in charge of the Sabbath school. John G. Street presided at these services, which were from those of Emma Pitts. Rev. Rorer made an address upon agricultural resources, its lessons and teachings. Walter F. Hall was in charge of the music, which was furnished by Wright's orchestra and Miss Laura King.

Mrs. Jeremiah Lynn, a former Bristolian, who has been with Mrs. Alexander Forsyth, at Brown's Mills, N. J., upon returning to her home near Frankford last week, found that thieves had broken in the house during her absence and stolen $300 in bonds and $100 in money and some clothing. The robbers, who are supposed to have been two men employed on the farm, did not disturb the lower floor of the house where the silver was kept.

At the regimental election of officers, held in Philadelphia last Thursday by the 3d Regiment, Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias, Captain William V. Leech was elected Major of the regiment. The crowd going on the ferry boat from Bristol last Thursday afternoon to Burlington to see the firemen's carnival was so great that the passengers could not be accommodated at the ticket office on several of the trips. When the large gates were thrown open to let off the passengers, a number of people crowded in the exit gates without paying toll. A few climbed in the side cabin window. Not counting these there were about 2000 paid trips. The ferry boat did excellent service, a number of extra trips were made and all Bristolians were well taken care of by Mr. Doron.

The Philadelphia Inquirer sent a special reporter to Burlington last Thursday to report the firemen's parade. In the write-up two companies were given special commendation for their appearance in line. The first was No. 1 Company, of Bristol, and the other Delaware Company, No. 2, of Bordentown. Of the Bristol Company the Inquirer said: "The red-shirted and white-trousered Bristol men, who looked like pictures with their steamer, hose wagon and crab, took the fancy of everybody; they marched like veterans, and when they wheeled at Falkenberg's corner they could not have done it better had they been regular army men."

Of the Bristol Company the Inquirer said: "The red-shirted and white-trousered Bristol men, who looked like pictures with their steamer, hose wagon and crab, took the fancy of everybody; they marched like veterans, and when they wheeled at Falkenberg's corner they could not have done it better had they been regular army men."

The Philadelphia Inquirer sent a special reporter to Burlington last Thursday to report the firemen's parade. In the write-up two companies were given special commendation for their appearance in line. The first was No. 1 Company, of Bristol, and the other Delaware Company, No. 2, of Bordentown. Conn, and Mrs. Sarah Binn, of Burlington, N. J., will delight the audience.

Counterfeits Afloat.

During the past week there have been a number of attempts to pass counterfeit silver dollars upon the residents of Bristol. Mr. Fowler, ticket agent at the station, has had three or four of these bogus dollars offered him by strangers but has each time discovered the fraud and now has his eyes wide open for cheap money, and it would be well for the storekeepers to have their weather-eye open also if they do not want to have a stock of bad dollars for a portion of their permanent assets.

Needs a Pole.

The Republican State Committee presented County Chairman Joseph Shelly with a handsome large American flag. Mr. Shelly on Saturday brought the flag down from Doylestown and presented the big flag to the Republicans of Bristol. It is an immense garrison flag, 15x35 feet. The borough authorities should erect a flag pole at some suitable point in the borough, from which the big banner can be thrown to the breeze upon proper occasions.

T. W. Patton Robbed.

On last Thursday night between 11 o'clock and morning thieves broke into the whole-sale tobacco department of T. W. Patton's store, on Mill street, opposite Radcliffe, and stole about $200 worth of plug tobacco. The thieves forced an entrance into the building which adjoins the retail store by prying open a rear door. The burglary was not discovered until the opening of the store the next morning.

More Improvements.

William H. Grundy & Co. have torn down the machinery warehouse next to the old rolling mill, and will remove the present iron work storage house adjoining into the mill yard, and on the ground occupied by these buildings will erect a two-story building, 60x210 feet, to be used for the storage of wool. The building will be constructed with extra heavy timbers and be enclosed with corrugated galvanized iron.

A Narrow Escape.

John Irwin and family had a narrow escape from death last Sunday evening while returning from Morrisville. When crossing the railroad bridge above Tullytown, the horse became frightened at a passing train and was gotten under control just in time to prevent him from going over the side of the steep embankment. The only damage done was to the harness, which was badly broken.

Robbery Near Edgington.

Thieves entered the home of Mr. Edward Paist, near Edgington, early Monday morning and removed two hundred dollars' worth of silver and five table linen. It is supposed that the work was done by some one familiar with the place as an entrance was made through the library window, the only place not protected by a burglar alarm. The robbers generously left seven knives and forks.

Work on the Trolley Road.

The work of building the Newtown-Doylestown trolley railway is progressing rapidly. The trestle work over Newtown creek has been finished and the ties have been laid on it. The ties for a considerable distance on North State street, Newtown, were placed last Thursday and the rails laid upon them.

BURNED TO DEATH.

The Two-Year Old Child of Maurice J. Roche Burned to Death.

On Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock an alarm of fire was turned in from box 43 at John K. Young's drug store to summon the department to the cigar store of Maurice J. Roche at 500 Bath street. Before the firemen arrived the flames were extinguished, but not, however, before one of the saddest events occurred that has happened in Bristol for a number of years.

Mrs. Roche and her mother, Mrs. Biglan, were sitting at the table in the dining room eating lunch when they heard the noise of the upsetting of a five gallon can of gasoline in the shed kitchen, which was pulled over by their little 21 month's old boy, Maurice Roche, Jr. The cork came out of the can and the gasoline ran over the floor. The little fellow ran out in the yard and Mrs. Roche wiped up the gasoline with a number of cloths as best she could. As some people have done when they have spilled a small quantity of alcohol or oil on a board floor to get rid of the odor and to clean up the spot she thoughtlessly touched a match to the damp place but the fumes had permeated the room and the gasoline went off with an explosion and that remaining in the can also caught on fire. Just as the explosion occurred the little child came running in and upon seeing the fire began shrieking its distress at it, thinking of course that it was something to play with, and its light frock immediately caught fire. The heartrending screams of the mother brought in neighbors. Mrs. Roche and the grandmother were both very severely burned in trying to extinguish the child's burning clothes, which was not accomplished until Frank Lenderbough took a large ironing blanket from the fence and threw it around the little boy and smothered the flames. The fire in the kitchen was extinguished by the neighbors and B. Frank Barnes, who smothered the fire in the gas line can.

The child was carried to the office of Dr. A. S. Wilson in the blanket, when it was found that the little boy was literally cooked. The face and body was raw and the skin hung in shreds. The lips were burned and the child had inhaled the flames. It was then evident that the boy could not live. Dr. Wilson dressed the burns to relieve the intense suffering, after which the child was taken home, and Drs. E. J. and Albert Groom, the family physicians, wrapped the body in absorbent cotton and dressed the mother's and grandmother's burns.

The boy, one of the brightest little fellows in the neighborhood, died after intense suffering shortly after eight o'clock the same day.

Mr. and Mrs. Roche lost a little girl about two weeks ago, and this taking away now of Mrs. Roche's only child is the most severe blow.

The burial of the child will be to-day in St. Mark's new cemetery.

THE MANUFACTURERS FOR CONGRESS.

ENDORSED BY THE MANUFACTURERS OF BOOKS AND MONTGOMERY COUNTIES.

A second meeting of the manufacturers of Books and Montgomery counties was held in Norristown last Saturday. The Executive Committee made a report which stated that the manufacturing interests of the district were deeply concerned in the re-election of Hon. Irving P. Wanger, because they realize that he will promote their interests in Washington. The committee circulated the following letter among the manufacturers for signature, and in so doing they found a unanimous sentiment existing in favor of the present Congressional incumbent. The paper is still in circulation and other signatures will be added.

To our fellow voters of the Seventh Congressional District:

Relating our common interests to be involved in the election of the Representative in Congress from this district, November 3, we respectfully submit the importance of vigorous effort toward securing the right result and earnestly ask your cordial cooperation therein.

The disastrous effects of the panic of 1893 were so severely felt, it is a fact recognized by every citizen, that it has been a long time since the nation's favor the past year. These results may be attributed to the result of the election, the new conditions resulting from the brilliant triumph of war and diplomacy, if the opportunity is given to us to make a partial check was given by the war with Spain, which is believed to be now ended, and the large trade in port-towns which the country was flooded in anticipation of the Dingley Tariff Act, has been consumed, and the integrity of our country's finances, and the stability of its industrial system are threatened by the result of the election, an era of great prosperity and enterprise is before us.

England With the Heavy Hand.
England has inflicted far greater land disasters on her redoubtable neighbor, France, than all the military monarchies of Europe put together. English armies for 100 years have ravaged France, while England has not seen the first of a French camp since the battle of Hastings. English troops have twice taken the French capital, an English king has been crowned at Paris, a French king has been crowned at London, a French emperor died in English captivity and his remains were surrendered by English generosity. Twice the English armies have marched from Calais to the Pyrenees, once from the Pyrenees to Calais; the monuments of Napoleon in the French capital at this moment owe their preservation from German revenge to an English general.

All the great disasters and days of mourning for France since the battle of Hastings—Roubaix, Orléans, Fontenoy, Agincourt, Verdun, Chancellorsville, Bligny, Oudenarde, Ramillies, Malpla-quet, Minden, Dettingen, Quebec, Jaffa, Talavera, Salamanca, Vittoria, the Pyrenees, Orléans, Waterloo—were gained by English generals, and won, for the most part, by English soldiers.
Even at Fontenoy, the greatest victory of English arms since the battle of Hastings, which France can boast since Hastings, every regiment in the French army was on their own admission routed by the terrible English column, and victory was won by the grasp of a single hand of the Dutch and Austrians—Alison's "Life of Marlborough."

Crushed by Becher.
Henry Ward Beecher was once approached by a young man who considered himself very clever.
"Do you know, Mr. Beecher," said he,
"I've been thinking that I would settle down, behave myself and join your church. Now, I like your preaching, but when I go to your church and see such men as old S. and others, grasping at the pulpit and the cure, sitting there in full membership, why, the thing is just a little too much for me, and really," he added,
"I cannot join."

"Well, you're right," said Mr.
Beecher. "Every church has such men, and I fancy Plymouth is not free from them, and until you speak I have always wondered why the good Lord permitted it. Now I understand."

"Ah," gurgled the young fellow, "I am glad I have thrown light on the question! What strikes you as the reason, Mr. Beecher?"

"Well," replied the great preacher,
"it is permitted in order to keep just such fellows as you out of the churches."

chalk in the grate. Once heated this is practically inexhaustible from combustion as to the cheerfulness and the saving

A Wise Answer.
It takes but an ordinary mail to return an angry answer to an insult. The extraordinary man is he who under such circumstances, holds himself so well under control that he controls his adversary also.

Percia once possessed such a man and was clear sighted enough to make him a judge. He was the chief judge of Bagdad in the reign of Caliph Hadea, and his name was Aboo Yuseph. He was a very wise man, for he knew his own deficiencies, and was actually sometimes in doubt as to whether he possessed sufficient wisdom to give a just decision in cases peculiarly shrouded in mystery.

It is related of him that on one occasion, after patient investigation of facts, he decided that he had not sufficient knowledge to pronounce on the case before him. There was in his presence a poet, courtier, one of those men who take long to learn that wisdom and impudence are not closely related.

"Pray, do you expect that the caliph is to pay you for ignorance?" he asked, hoping to place the judge at a disad-vantage.

"No, no," was the mild reply.
"The caliph pays me—and pays me well —for what I do know. Were he to attempt to pay me for what I do not know the treasures of his empire would not suffice."—Youth's Companion.

A Fascinating Stranger.
"A Worcester man," says the Worcester Gazette, "who makes frequent trips to Europe, fell in with a fascinating stranger the last time he was across.
The stranger, who may be designated as Ferguson because that does not sound at all like his real name, was an American, his manners were those of a gentleman, and he seemed to be well supplied with money and to know a great many people worth knowing. In company with the Worcester man one day Ferguson said: 'Worcester is a charming city, and I have some very dear friends there. I presume you know Colonel E. J. Russell? He is an old and highly esteemed friend, to whom I am deeply indebted for many favors.'"

"When the Worcester man returned home, he met Colonel Russell one day and in course of conversation remarked that he had met a man in Europe who said that he was an old friend. Colonel Russell thought for a moment, and then he replied: 'Oh, yes, I remember Ferguson very well! I ought to, for he lived with me for seven years ago. It was when I was warden of the state prison at Charlestown, and I will say that Ferguson was one of the quietest and best behaved prisoners that I ever had.'"

A Lost Opportunity.
The Chicago Record says that some time ago a young organist secured permission to practice on the big organ in the Auditorium. An elderly man walked in and took a seat a few rows away from the musician. The young organist noticed him, and was encouraged to "show off" and do a few tricks of playing for his audience. He rambled on for an hour, and the elderly man sat there, apparently unimpressed. The young man moved at last and was about to look the organ when the elderly man approached him and said in broken English that he wished to play for a few minutes.

"They don't allow any one but an experienced organist to touch the instrument," said the young man loftily.
With a gesture suggestive of meekness and humility, the stranger presented his card, "Alexandre Guilmant, Paris."

Then it was time for the young organist to swoon. He had missed the chance of his life. For an hour he had been entertaining the great master with household drivel.

Where to Carry Stamps.
"Business men have various ways of carrying their postage stamps," said the stamp clerk the other morning while sitting in his chair at the stamp window in the general postoffice. "A good many men who post their letters have always have one or more stamps in their pockets. Some carry them in stamp cases, but the economical man carries his stamps under the band of his hat or in his pockets."

"The other day a young man called for five two's, and putting one on a letter which he had to mail, he took out his watch and opening the back of it slipped the remaining stamps into the case. They don't stick to the cover, and that is about the best way one can carry stamps if he has a watch."—New York Sun.

Poisons in Food.
Decomposition in animal products of food. It contains all of the different kinds of nutritive materials that the body needs. Bread made from the wheat flour will support life. It contains all the necessary ingredients for nourishment, but not in the proportions best adapted for ordinary use. A man might live on bread alone, but it would be a very ill and imperfect diet, but man can bread together make the essentials of a healthy diet. Such are the results of experience, and the advancing science of later years explains them. This explanation takes into account not simply quantities of meat and bread and milk and other materials which we eat, but also the nutritive ingredients or "nutrients" which they contain.—New York Ledger.

Maiden Speeches.
Sheridan, one of the greatest of British orators and who entered parliament after a conspicuously successful literary career, so nearly broke down in his maiden effort that the general verdict pronounced upon him was that "nature never intended him for an orator."

Brougham and Canning were equally unsuccessful, and many of the present day displayed no signs of oratory when they appeared for the first time before the official assembly at St. Stephen's.

Mr. Gladstone's maiden speech, delivered Feb. 24, 1838, was a nervous, hesitant and almost inaudible effort.

Fire and Water.
Water will extinguish a fire because the water forms a coating over the fuel, which keeps it from the air, and the conversion of water into steam draws the heat from the burning fuel. A little water makes a fire fiercer, while a large quantity of water puts it out.
The explanation is that water is composed of oxygen and hydrogen. When therefore the fire can decompose the water into its simple elements, it serves as fuel to the flame.

A Unique Sign.
A sign which was productive of much discussion was read by the patroness of a small laundry establishment in a Massachusetts town.

It was printed in large letters on a piece of brown paper and pinned to the door of the shop. It ran thus:

Bees on account of sickness till next Monday, or possibly Wednesday. I am not expected to live. Shall be unable to deliver goods for at least a week in any case."
